Course description**

This course provides a broad overview of active and latent TB including its epidemiology, transmission, pathogenesis, diagnosis, treatment and management. It will familiarize the participant with all aspects of Tuberculosis Skin Testing (TST). This course has been broken up into five modules as part of a Blended Learning Series on IN-TRAIN. You will need to complete the final assessment in order to complete the series. Each module is listed as a separate course but you will only need to know the one course number to access all the modules.

Course Duration:

The curriculum is designed in a self-study format so that each person can work at his or her own pace. The actual time it takes to complete the course may differ from person to person. This course is divided into 5 learning modules and a
